CHAPTER ONE:

INTRODUCTION

Background

Development planning in Kenya began formally after independence in 1963. The first national development plan in Kenya was made in 1964 with an initial seven-year plan (1964-1970). The plan was later revised into a five-year plan (1966-1970) in 1966 through the Sessional Paper Number 10 of 1965 on “African Socialism and its Application to Planning in Kenya”. The Sessional Paper provided the basis for the preparation of subsequent five-year national development Plans, Poverty Reduction Strategy Papers and the Economic Recovery Strategy. In June 2008, Kenya like many other many African countries developed a long-term Vision with ambitious economic growth targets and social development objectives. Kenya Vision 2030 was launched as the nation's long-term development blueprint to be implemented in 5-year successive Medium-Term Plans.

With regard to decentralized planning, Kenya instituted the Special Rural Development Programme (SRDP) in 1967 as an experimental effort at the sub-district level to conduct integrated development activities aimed at increasing rural income and employment opportunities. The SRDP led to the emergence of District Development Grants in 1971 as means of financing locally defined projects and revitalising District Development Committees. The decentralization process took full effect on 1st July 1983 with the adoption of the District Focus for Rural Development (DFRD) which transformed the districts into the focal points for identifying, initiating, planning and managing rural development through District Planning Units. The District Planning Units were responsible for the development of District Development Plans that were linked to the national plans.

The Constitution of Kenya ushered in a devolved system of government consisting of the National and 47 County governments, which are distinct but interdependent. To entrench the spirit of devolution, Article 220(2) (a) of the Constitution gave rise to the enactment of various Acts of Parliament providing the requisite legal framework to guide integrated county development planning. A County Integrated Development Plans (CIDPs) provide a framework for planning, budgeting, funding, monitoring and evaluation of programmes and projects in five-year terms. The CIDPs ensure counties' programmes and projects are aligned to the national aspirations as contained in the Kenya Vision 2030 and its Medium-Term Plans. It is implemented through a rolling one-year plan (Annual Development Plans) where programme-based budgets are drawn. So far, the First- and Second- Generation CIDPs have been developed and implemented.

Rationale

Article 186 and 220(2)(a) of the Constitution assigns the national government the role of prescribing the structure of the county development plans and support to counties on economic policy and planning. Sections 102(h), 104(1) and 108 of the County Government Act 2012, require county governments to prepare 5-year County Integrated Development Plans which are the basis for appropriation of funds. Further, Section 104 (1) of the Act obligates the county governments to plan for the county and no public funds should be appropriated without a planning framework.

Plans which are the basis for appropriation of funds. Further, Section 104 (1) of the Act obligates the county governments to plan for the county and no public funds should be appropriated without a planning framework.

The Constitution of Kenya

The Fourth Schedule of the Constitution assigns the National Government the role of national economic policy and planning while County Governments are responsible for county planning and development. Article 10 (2) of the Constitution on national values and principles of governance further prescribes the need for good governance, integrity, transparency and accountability, and sustainable development. Article 118(1) b provides for public participation in public policy processes.

Kenya Vision 2030 and Its Medium-Term Plans

The Kenya Vision 2030 aims at creating “a globally competitive and prosperous nation with a high quality of life by 2030”. It also aims at transforming Kenya into “a newly industrializing, middle-income country providing a high quality of life to all its citizens in a clean and secure environment”. The Vision is being implemented through successive five-year Medium-Term Plans at the national level. The theme of the Fourth Medium Term Plan, 2023-2027 is: “Accelerating Socio-economic Transformation to a more competitive, Inclusive and Resilient Economy”. This is driven by the need to: transform our economy; create the much-needed wealth and employment; reduce poverty and inequality; and create a conducive environment for investment.

County Integrated Development Plans (CIDPs) are expected to be aligned to the national development framework – the Kenya Vision 2030 and its Medium-Term Plan. Additionally, the CIDPs should incorporate the relevant aspirations of regional development frameworks such as the East African Vision 2030 and the continental Agenda 2063. Similarly, international commitments and obligations such as the 2030 Agenda and Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), the Paris Agreement on climate change and the Sendai Framework, among others, should be incorporated into the CIDP.

County Government Act, 2012

Section 108 of the County Government Act, 2012, requires county governments to prepare a 5-year County Integrated Development Plan and annual county budgets to implement them. In Section 102 (h) of the Act, county planning is expected “to provide a platform for unifying planning, budgeting, financing programmes, implementation, and performance review”. A County Planning Unit shall be responsible for “coordinated integrated development planning”. County plans will have the goal of promoting harmony with national and other county plans, land-use plans, urban planning and environmental conservation. Further,

Section 104 (1) of the Act states that “a county government shall plan for the county and no public funds shall be appropriated without a planning framework developed by the county executive committee and approved by the county assembly”. It also states that the county planning framework shall integrate economic, physical, social, environmental and spatial planning. In addition to the county integrated development plan, county governments are expected to have the following: County Sectoral Plan (10 years); County Spatial Plan (10 years); and Cities and Urban Areas Plan (5 years).

These county plans as provided in Section 107 (2), shall be the basis for all the planning and budgeting in a county.

CHAPTER THREE:

THE EDUCATION SECTOR

3.1 : Review of the Implementation of the Lamu County CIDP 2018 – 2022

Presentations from the county department of education were done to share the sector performance in the second generation CIDP. The presentations include projects that have been achieved so far, ongoing projects, pending projects, and flagship projects that were in the second generation CIDP 2018-2022 . Plenary discussions after each presentation were done to enrich the discussion to inform the priority needs for recommendations in the third-generation CIDP 2023-2027.

Notable issues from the presentation and the plenary discussion were as follows;

- Need for the training of teachers on teaching methodologies, especially after the rolling out of the Curriculum based education, especially for ECDE teachers and primary school teachers.
- The school calendar was disrupted due to the government directive of closing all schools when the COVID-19 prevalence was quite high. When the directive was - lifted, the ministry of education revised a crush program for learners to catch up with the education curriculum and this has created a heavy toll on teachers, learners and parents.

- The education status in Lamu has not matched the national expectation of the ministry of education for basic, tertiary, and higher education. For so many years the performance of Lamu county in national examinations has been minimal. This has been contributed by the following reasons: the building of the learning institutions is not friendly to the learners. The school equipment is not enough for the ratio to the student population.
- Some of the ECDE centres that have been built by the county government lack appropriate learning equipment and sufficient professional instructors.
- At the primary level inadequate schools make children walk for a long distance, hence some students find it difficult to access schools leading to a high school dropout rate, low retention rate, and incompletion of the education cycle.
- The performance in national examinations is very poor compared to other Counties making few youths access higher education with very many accesses to vocational training.
- The vocational training institutions have insufficient equipment and permanently employed qualified instructors. This makes the instructors look for greener pastures leaving the learners without instructors in the middle of the learning cycle.
- Out of three major flagship projects including the second generation CIDP, only one which is a bursary and scholarship program was implemented successfully. The other two projects, Lamu county educational resource centre and the school feeding program were not implemented due to scarcity of resources.
- Another concern raised during the meeting was an unequal distribution of the ECDE centres in Lamu county; in the Lamu West sub-county 12 ECDEs were constructed, while Lamu central and Lamu East has 2 ECDs each.
- Participants appreciated the efforts and achievements that have been realized by the department of education. Among the achievements are the bursary and scholarship program, which has increased secondary school enrollment and performance in the KCPE examination. Any student who achieved 300 marks and above gets a full scholarship from form one to form four. This has boosted the morale of both parents and students to concentrate fully on education.

Notable issues from the presentation and the plenary discussion were as follows;

- Funding challenges – access, flow, distribution, of funding from treasury and the county department of finance disputes some operations in health facilities with Lamu county heavily relying on the government's funding sources to support the department.
- The continued disadvantage of preventive health services due to inadequate resources.

- There was no midterm review done on the 2018-2022 CIDP
- Procurement challenges where the government directives force the county government to procure all its medication from KEMSA which results in some facilities lacking the requested medication and equipment due to bureaucracies in the procurement procedures.
- Change of priorities indicated in the 2018 – 2022 CIDP due to political ambitions of the leaders.
- Lack of integration of the health sector with other players/stakeholders
- Insecurity in some parts of Lamu has forced the department to close down some of its health facilities
- COVID 19 pandemic caught the county unprepared i.e. the county did not have an Intensive care unit facility and lacked quarantine facilities
- Industrial unrest – Doctors and nurses strikes disrupted some service delivery in the health department.

The presentations include projects that have been achieved so far, ongoing projects, pending projects, and flagship projects that were in the second generation CIDP 2018-2022. Plenary discussions after each presentation were done to enrich the discussion to inform the priority needs for recommendations in the third-generation CIDP 2023-27.

- Shortage of extension services
- Low funding for agriculture programs.
- Lack of input credit
- Sale of agricultural produce in the raw form
- Overreliance on rain-fed crop production
- High incidences of pests and diseases
- Post-harvest losses
- Weak farmer organizations
- Lack of updated data on agriculture (farmer records, value chains, acreages, production, and marketing data)
- Disruption of service provision by the department of Agriculture, Livestock, and fisheries due to the COVID-19 pandemic.
- Perennial droughts economically affected both farmers and livestock keepers.
